PRESIDENT'S DESK

Arthur Sipe

As we come to the end of 1967 and approach a new year, let us take stock of the past year in our association and in our hobby, as well as look ahead and plan for some of the projects we have every hope of accomplishing during the coming year.

The greatest accomplishment last year was the completion and formal dedication of our new home and headquarters building on June 10, 1967, which is now fully equipped for operation and situated on the campus of Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

To have our own headquarters building was the dream of most of us and of many who have passed on. We are most grateful for all our members and friends who in past years have made this dream a reality with their many plans and generous contributions. This is undoubtedly one great milestone realized in the present history of our great association.

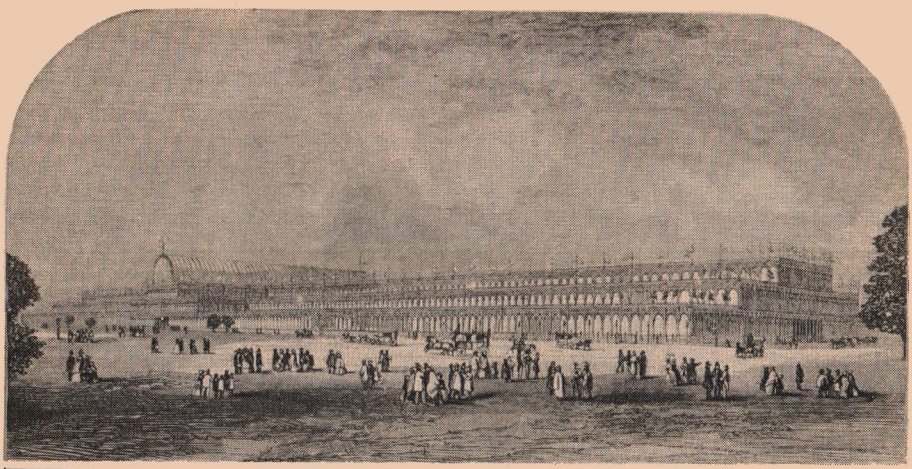

With the housing of one of the world's largest numismatic libraries, an ever expanding audio-visual education program composed of many sets of slides and movies relating to the many varied phases of numismatics, our general offices designed to carry on the business of the ANA, as well as a museum which is now open to the public, we have available for the use of all our members a superb facility to increase one's numismatic knowledge and enjoy to a fuller extent our exciting hobby.

We are most anxious to publish during this coming year, a numismatic dictionary composed of definitions of words and phrases commonly used by us in the numismatic field; this is an effort which we have every reason to believe will expand as additional definitions are developed.

We will enlarge our efforts this year towards a wider participation in National Coin Week, for which a year long effort will continue and conclude during the week of April 21st through April 27th, the designated week with the theme, "History Under Glass." We trust that many clubs and individuals will participate in this annual observance and thereby indicate to the general public examples of our very interesting hobby with the emphasis again this year in the important relation between numismatics and history.

The junior program is one we can all support and subscribe to during the year 1968. We enlist the senior members to help our young numismatists by giving them numismatic knowledge and assistance in forming clubs of their own. We invite and urge the young collectors to send material and pictures of their activities for publication in the section of The Numismatist devoted to the hobby as enjoyed by the juniors. We also hope many of them will participate and exhibit during the observance of National Coin Week.

Above all, I extend to each and every one of you a most prosperous and Happy New Year and wish you continued enjoyment and success in our mutual hobby.

Exposition 1851

The idea of an exhibition that would include specimens of the industrial products of all nations must be credited to Buffet, the French Minister of Agriculture, who conceived the idea in early 1849. Wanting to get the opinion of manufacturers throughout France, he sent questionnaires to the chambers of commerce throughout the country proposing that samples of art and manufacture of neighboring countries be admitted to the new proposed approaching French exhibition. Buffet received so many unfavorable replies to his questionnaires that he abandoned the idea. If therefore, the merit of having originated expositions of her own manufactures belonged to France, then it is to Francis Fuller, that the credit for the idea and basic formation to the Great Exhibition must be given.

The story of the origin of the Great Exhibition of 1851, as told by Francis Fuller himself, in part, is as follows: "On returning from Paris, France, in June 1849, where I had been examining the French works of arts and manufacture, I accidentally met at South Hampton, my friend Thomas Cubitt, who was at the time building at Osborne Castle for Prince Albert. We traveled to London together, and on the way I informed him of my ideas concerning an exhibition, and that we could do a grander job of such a work in London, by inviting contributions from every nation, and said moreover that if Prince Albert would take the lead in such a work he would become a leading light among nations. This was on June 12. On June 14 when Mr. Cubitt returned to Osborne Castle, he mentioned the idea to the Prince, who expressed sympathy with the project. "On returning to London I wrote to Mr. Scott Russell, secretary of the London Society of Arts, saying that we could organize a better exhibition in London, than that in progress in Paris, and asking Mr. Russell to suggest to Prince Albert, who was the president of the society, the public announcement of such an intention."

This letter was placed in the hands of the Prince and on June 16, 1849, while he was distributing prizes at the Society of Arts, Prince Albert announced, "The probable birth of a large and comprehensive exhibition."

Continuing, Fuller says, "On June 30th, 1849, I attended by command of the Prince, at Buckingham Palace, with Mr. Scott Russell and Mr. Cole, when Mr. Cubitt introduced me to the Prince who explained that Mr. Cubitt had made him acquainted with the remarkable conversation about an exhibition of the works of all nations to be held in London, and expressed a desire to hear more about it. At the close of the meeting the Prince was so enamored with the project, he requested Mr. Russell to inform the Office of Secretary, and to record the result of the day's meeting, which was done. Prince Albert also expressed a wish for an early meeting on the subject at Osborne Castle.

"On July 14th, 1949 a meeting took place at Osborne Castle and H.R.H. introduced us. (Scott Russell, Mr. Cole and myself) to Sir Robert Peel being Prime Minister, who said the project was good and deserved support, but he also mentioned that until a sufficient majority of the manufacturers of the United Kingdom shall declare in favor of it, he strongly advised H.R.H. and the ministers to have nothing to do with it. As the manufacturers had not been consulted the proceedings came to a deadlock, and we were bowed out of the room. Here then was our first obstacle. On leaving the room H.R.H. followed, and requested us to stay for luncheon after the ministers shall have departed. While taking lunch with the Prince, I informed him that we made up our minds to call on every manufacturer of note in the United Kingdom, and showed him a form, I had drawn up for every manufacturer to sign; either for or against the proposal. We agreed to report the result to H.R.H. at Balmoral Castle in September, which we did. This meeting lasted so long that we missed our boat, whereupon the Prince ordered his yacht "Fairy" to take us to South Hampton where we took a train back to London. On the way back Mr. Cole said he could no longer take part in the adventure as he was unable to bear the expense of interviewing the manufacturers.

"Here was obstacle number two which I got over by advancing £100 to Mr. Cole and by undertaking to pay all expenses connected with the experiment. On September 3, 1849, we reported the results of our interviews with the manufacturers to H.R.H. at Balmoral Castle, who was very pleased with the results, and said he would convene another meeting of the ministers on his return to London, which he did, and since there were only six dissentients the ministers were satisfied. Then this obstacle number two was eliminated.

"At the second meeting of the ministers they required to be informed what means we had of meeting the costs of building, which Mr. Cubitt informed the Prince would cost £75,-000 and upon being informed that we had none, but that we hoped by means of public subscription and by the help of a public contractor and also the aid of the government to produce the desired funds. The ministers informed us that the government would contribute nothing, not even the red tape to tie up paper work, neither would they listen to the name of the contractor unless he would contribute £20,000 to a prize fund as a gesture of good faith. Here were further serious blocks to the project.

"By introducing Messrs. George and James Munday as contractors who executed an agreement to pay £20,000 and all expenses to construct a building and bear all losses while giving the Society of Arts one-third of any profit, that might be made, I got rid of the last named blocks.

"Then followed trouble over the profit to the contractors, and the contract was finally dissolved by the Royal Commissioners. The Commission having put an end to the contract, there was no longer money coming from the contractor when required.

"It therefore became necessary to have a guaranty fund and to ask the Bank of England to make advances thereon, which was done. There were twenty-seven guarantors headed by Prince Albert with £10,000 and closed by Mr. Fuller with £20,000 pounds. A subscription fund was opened of which, at the Prince's request, Mr. Fuller became its head, he collected nearly £68,000."

The above story explains nothing of the artistic or historic points of the Crystal Palace from the time that Messrs. Mundays were discharged, and the new contracting firm of Fox, Henderson & Co. were employed to construct a new and suitable building to house the exhibition. Under the direction of Sir Joseph Paxton, architect, new plans of design were drawn up and the construction proceeded with urgency.

The Crystal Palace was a very unique structure for its time. Being situated on an 18-acre tract of land in London's Hyde Park district, it took the shape of a giant parallelogram made of glass and prefabricated iron, 1851 ft. long, 408 ft. wide and constructed of a maze of slender iron rods suspending entire walls made of plate glass around its 772,784 sq. ft. of exhibit area. A vaulted dome in the center of the building gave it a striking appearance. It was covered by nearly 17 acres of glass. Looking at this building gave you the impression of a giant green house. The total construction cost of the building and facilities reached the enormous figure of £150,000 upon its completion.

The Great Exhibition of 1851 was honored by the presence of Queen Victoria and Prince Albert. It officially opened to the public on May 1, 1851 with the usual fanfare due such an occasion. From the opening day until its closing on October 15, of the same year over 69,039,159 people visited the 17,000 exhibits.

Since this exhibition turned out to be a financial success, profits of approximately £213,000 were turned over to a committee for the later construction of the South Kensington Museum and the National History Museum of South Kensington. The South Kensington Museum is, by the way, official curator for 1851 exhibition material.

The Crystal Palace building was sold directly after the closing, dismantled and reconstructed under the director of Sir Joseph Paxton at Sydenham, Kent, England. The first column was re-erected August 5, 1852, and the building was completed June 10, 1854. Under the directorship of Francis Fuller the Crystal Palace was again alive.

It remained open to the public for flower shows and various sundry exhibits until late in 1939 when a spectacular fire ravaged the building totally destroying this beautiful structure.

The Father of the Big Fairs

Francis Fuller was born in Gouldson, Surrey, England, in 1807. He began business in 1828 as a land agent and surveyor at Crydon, but soon moved to London where, from the very beginning of the development of railways, he was employed in purchasing land for various railway enterprises. For twenty-five years he was a surveyor for the London, Brighton and South Coast Railway and for some time acted as a surveyor for the Metropolitan District Railway. Fuller was employed not only in England, but also in Wales and Ireland with many successful railway schemes. Among his main works was the railway branch line from Caterham Junction to Caterham, which he promoted and constructed entirely at his own cost and without the aid of Parliament.

Later he became interested in the formation and organization of exhibitions and an attempt was made to divert the credit for the idea and formation of the London exhibition of 1851 to Prince Albert. This attempt Fuller strongly resented, and in 1886 he printed, in pamphlet form, extracts from his personal diary in reference "to the origin of exhibition of all nations held in London in 1851." By letters and other documents he demonstrated beyond doubt to the public that he was in fact the originator.

At the time of his death in 1887 he was the last survivor of the executive committee appointed to organize the details of this exhibition. For his services he was offered but declined the position of Royal Knighthood.

In his later years Fuller displayed a deep interest in the education of the masses and spent much of his time and money on this pursuit. An active member of the Royal Society of Arts he participated in their activities to the very end of his life. Retiring to the town of West Brighton he died in early May of 1887.

Comment on Batty
All farthing, half penny and penny tokens listed with numbers, ex: 2/675, will refer to Batty volume 2, token number 675. In this paper I picked tokens that directly relate to the Great Exhibition only, those not directly related were omitted.

Comment on Grant

I had trouble when looking thru Grant's listings for the 1851 fair. He does not describe medals by description, size, or metal. Three pieces in his list are classified as medallettes but are actually Batty farthing sized tokens, 2/88, 2/659 and 2/480. Since Grant's list is confusing, not all the medals he lists are included. Without an accurate description this would only tend to add confusion.

GOVERNMENT SERVICES FOR THE NUMISMATIST

BOOKS - COINS - MEDALS

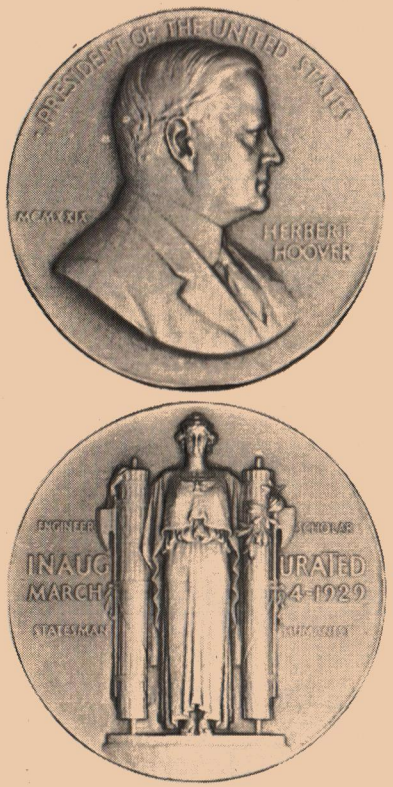

HOW - WHEN - WHERE

More Than Coins and Medals

The government offers far more services to the numismatist than one realizes. The total number can only be measured by the stretch of the imagination. Services are far more than just offering specific proof sets or medals for sale to the collector. A number of government museums across the country offer the collector educational displays and backgrounds that help him enjoy a far greater benefit than could otherwise be obtained from the pursuit of numismatics.

For the numismatist interested in politicana, we strongly suggest a visit to the various presidential libraries scattered across the country. The displays there cover the usual issue of medals struck honoring their respective past presidents and some feature comprehensive displays of political items related to the various campaigns participated in.

The Herbert Hoover Library in West Branch, Iowa, is a prime example of a good presidential library. It was established to preserve the papers and memorabilia of the late president and make them available for study and research. It is administered by the National Archives and Records Service of the General Services Administration. The library is a compact one-story structure situated adjacent to the birthplace cottage of Herbert Hoover in beautifully landscaped and well-kept Hoover Park. High-speed Interstate 80, east and west from Iowa City, Iowa, exits at West Branch, making the library easily accessible to tourists as well as collectors and scholars.

A three-inch bronze copy of Hoover's Inaugural Medal is offered to visitors at the Herbert Hoover Memorial Library in West Branch, Iowa. It is the same medal offered for sale to collectors by the U. S. Mint at Philadelphia and part of the Mint's Presidential series.

In addition to the extensive collection of political items, a special relief room contains a unique collection of embroidered flour sacks and expressions of gratitude from the people of starving Europe, and Belgium in particular who, without food or money used their hands and the empty flour sacks to express their gratitude to the man responsible for keeping many millions of them alive.

Naturally, numismatic souvenirs would be the interest to any collector and from the United States Mint the library offers a 3″ bronze copy of the Hoover Inaugural Medal for sale to visitors.

While only a small segment of numismatists are interested in politicana, the library should be of interest to all Americans. The museum of the Herbert Hoover Presidential Library, the Birthplace Cottage and the Blacksmith Shop, once run by Hoover's father are open from 9 to 4:30, Monday through Saturday, and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. It is closed on Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day. There is an admission fee of 50¢ for the museum. Children under 12 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

FEATURING FAKES

VIRGIL HANCOCK, ANA 43616

© 1968 by Virgil Hancock

The "S" is counterfeit . . . but otherwise the 1909 "VDB" is genuine!

A quantity of these 1909 "VDB" cents . . . with counterfeit "S" mintmarks affixed . . . have shown up on the Pacific Coast within the past few months.

How can you unmask the counterfeit mintmark?

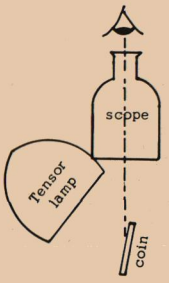

It's easy, with a good 30-power or a zoom stereoscopic microscope. (The 'scope at 30-x must disclose a 7 mm or 8 mm area of the coin, and vision must be equally clear from one edge to the other of that 7 mm field.)

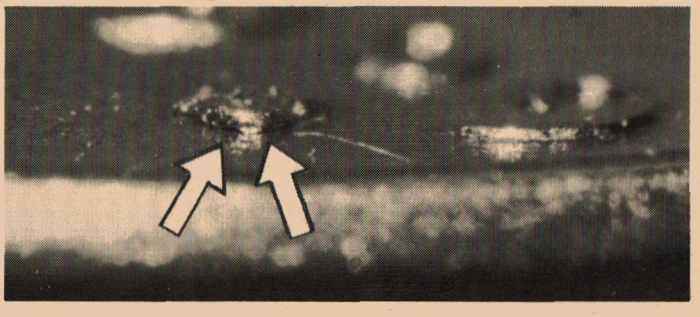

The coin is tilted 10 or 15 degrees from the vertical. The Tensor lamp is placed as close to the coin as possible. The microscope is focussed on the edge of the "S" where the "S" meets the coin's field. You watch that juncture as you slowly rotate the "S" all the way around, so that you inspect every point where the "S" joins the field. If the "S" is counterfeit, you'll likely find some spot where the thief failed to get his solder to blend, and a tiny "cave" under the edge of the "S" will be seen. (See Page 430, April 1967 The Numismatist.)

In the photo below, you see two such "caves" in the "southeast" or your lower right-hand edge of this counterfeit "S" mintmark.

Somewhere, someone is manufacturing counterfeit mintmarks in copper and silver, and is supplying them to the thieves who cement or solder the counterfeit mintmarks to more ordinary coins. Then, presto! A 1909-S "VDB" is born! Or a 1916-D dime. Or an 1889-CC dollar.

The day inevitably will come when collectors will start demanding a registered authentication certificate with every coin they buy. The cost of the certificate will be added to the price of the coin . . . and will be worth it!

A Chinese Numismatic Curiosity

by Arthur B. Coole, ANA-13940, OIN-399

A rhyme put together from 20 of the 37 mint-marks in China Proper during the Ch'ing Dynasty has been a collector's coveted aim for years. This rhyme, given below, was made from the Series 4 Chinese character mint-marks of the coins issued by the emperor, K'ang Hsi (康熙), who ruled from 1662-1723.

臺	寧	宣	同
T'ai	Ning	Hsüan	T'ung
桂	河	原	福
Kuei	Ho	Yüan	Fu
陝	南	蘇	臨
Shan	Nan	Su	Lin
雲	廣	薊	東
Yün	Kuang	Chi	Tung
章	浙	昌	江
Chang	Che	Ch'ang	Chiang

K'ang Hsi was the only Ch'ing (清) emperor who had Series 4 coins minted at all 20 of these mints. (See Coins in China's History, 4th edit., pp. 78-82) but lo and behold a couple of weeks ago Patrick D. Hogan of Iowa City, Iowa, sent me some Chinese coins to attribute for him from the collection of Miss Blanche E. Myers who served as an Episcopal missionary in Anking, Anhwei, China for years. Among these coins was a set of twenty "coins" forming this rhyme. However, the obverses of all of them read Hsien Feng T'ung Pao (咸豐通寶) which surprised me because this emperor only had Series 4 coins made at two out of the twenty mints concerned. I knew that we had something here of interest.

A further check showed that these 20 pieces were mules with a mixed parentage of Series 3 and Series 4 wen coins. The right character on the reverses were the Chinese mint-characters all right, but instead of having the Manchu mint-character on the left hand side the Manchu pao (寶) character showed up as in the Series 3 coins. The mint-character Su (蘇) had the two lower parts transposed so that it was written (蘓).

The characters on the obverses of all 20 coins are identically the same, with no allowance for a slight variation in the characters according to the separate mints. All of this leads up to the statement that these 20 pieces were not actually coins of the realm made in twenty mints but all made by some moneyer desiring to make something to cash in on unknowing purchasers, or maybe just for the interest in coming up with something extra-legal, if not illegal. But, if any single pieces got separated from the total rhyme deal it might lead the unknowing collector to claim that he had a coin that heretofore was not mentioned in an historical numismatic record and therefore an exceedingly "rare and valuable coin." But we must conclude that this set should be placed in one's Ya Sheng (壓勝) instead of coin collection.

This word Yasheng should become an internationally used term when one studies the numismatics of the Far East. (See Coins in China's History, 4th edition, p. 111.) The first character Ya (壓) means: To crush, to subject or conquer; to overthrow; to press; to repress; to keep down; to humble; to suppress; disgust, disdain, dislike, to hate; reject. The second character, Sheng (勝) means: To conquer; to get the victory; to win; to triumph over; to get the upper hand; to excel; to surpass, to elevate; to raise, to bear, to sustain, to be superior to; to praise. Now, I dare you to combine those two meanings into one English expression. I have humorously dubbed numismatic pieces under this heading as the "Unsinkable Molly Brown Sector of Oriental Numismatics." As the Chinese use the expression it includes counterfeits, bogus pieces, fakes, charms, commemoratives, curiosities, fantasies, forgeries, medallions, souvenir medals, pseudo-coins made from the imagination of rogues "out to make a fast buck," and spurious pieces. Thus, because of the lack of a suitable, all-inclusive English term for such pieces, I suggest that we take the word Yasheng and include it in our English vocabulary as a definite numismatic term covering this vast field of Oriental numismatic objects.

Since this rhyme was made originally for K'ang Hsi coins, but in this instance transferred to a Hsien Feng Yasheng set it would be interesting to see a picture of both emperors with their empresses.

K'ang Hsi was the second emperor of the Ch'ing Dynasty and ruled for 61 years – the longest reign of any of the ten Ch'ing emperors. During this reign China stretched its borders farther than they had been in years. During this period the following things were happening in the European-American sectors of the world: Lord Baltimore in the colony of Maryland issued shilling, six-pence, and groat coins in the colony but the British government ordered him to desist.

The General Court of Massachusetts issued its first coins. Niuew Amsterdam became British territory and the name was changed to New York. The Turks made their last attack on Vienna. William and Mary started their reign. Peter the Great westernized Russia. Thus when you hold K'ang Hsi's coins in your hands you can visualize some of the things happening over the world.

Hsien Feng (咸豐) who ruled from 1851-62 was 19 years old when he became emperor. He wasn't made of the same material that K'ang Hsi was made of and he had many troubles during his 11-year reign. The T'ai-p'ing (太平) Rebels had taken over Nanking on March 8, 1853 and by October 28th that year had driven up as far north in Chihli province as Chinghai, near Tientsin. Somehow or other the rebels lost their drive at that point and for years looted and pillaged in the provinces.

Minister Li Hung-ch'ang employed an American by the name of Frederick T. Ward to organize and staff an army to fight the T'ai-p'ing Rebels. He led an ever-victorious army against them but was killed in action. Then a Britisher, Charles George Gordon, took command and completed the job. He was nicknamed, "Chinese Gordon," for his efforts in suppressing the rebellion completely. But in 1857-58 the joint British-French forces captured Canton and with Lord Elgin in command they later captured the Taku forts on the Haiho near Tientsin and drove up to Peking where they forced the Manchus to come to terms. This really opened China to the whole world and by the end of the century a new relationship grew up between China and the West.

But during this attack on Peking Emperor Hsien Feng had gone to Jehol for safety but died there in comparative youth and his six-year-old son became the emperor under the title T'ung Chih. (同治)

Art Lovi dropped a line saying that he thinks an explanation as to what the rhyme means in English "it would have a lot more reader appeal." The old saying goes "that fools tread where angels fear to go." I asked my Chinese numismatic friends in Peiping what it meant and they all said that it isn't meant to express anything in particular but is just a jingle-jangle rhyme using the mint names of 20 of the 38 China proper mints. At least through this rhyme one could easily memorize twenty of the mint marks. However, all Chinese characters do have meanings. Therefore, I'll give the English meaning of each of these mint-marks characters and list the full name of the town or province that the single character symbolizes:

臨 Lin = To weep or wail. *Lin*tsing, Shantung.

東 Tung = East, eastern. Shan*tung* province.

江 Chiang = A large river. *Kiang*ningchen, Kiangsu or Nanchang, *Kiang*si. (Kiang is the Post Office spelling for Chiang.)

宣 Hsüan = To proclaim, publish. *Hsüan*huafu, Chihli (Now Hopei).

原 Yüan = Origin, truly, actually; to forgive; plateau, plain. Taiyüanfu, Shansi.

蘇 Su = To revive; thyme. *Soo*chow, Kiangsu.

薊 Chi = Thistle. *Chi*chou, Chihli (Now Hopei).

寧 Ning = To repose, peace; rather. *Ning*hsiafu, Kansu.

南 Nan = South. Changshafu, Hu*nan*.

廣 Kuang = Broad, wide, enlarged. *Kuang*chow (Canton), *Kwang*tung.

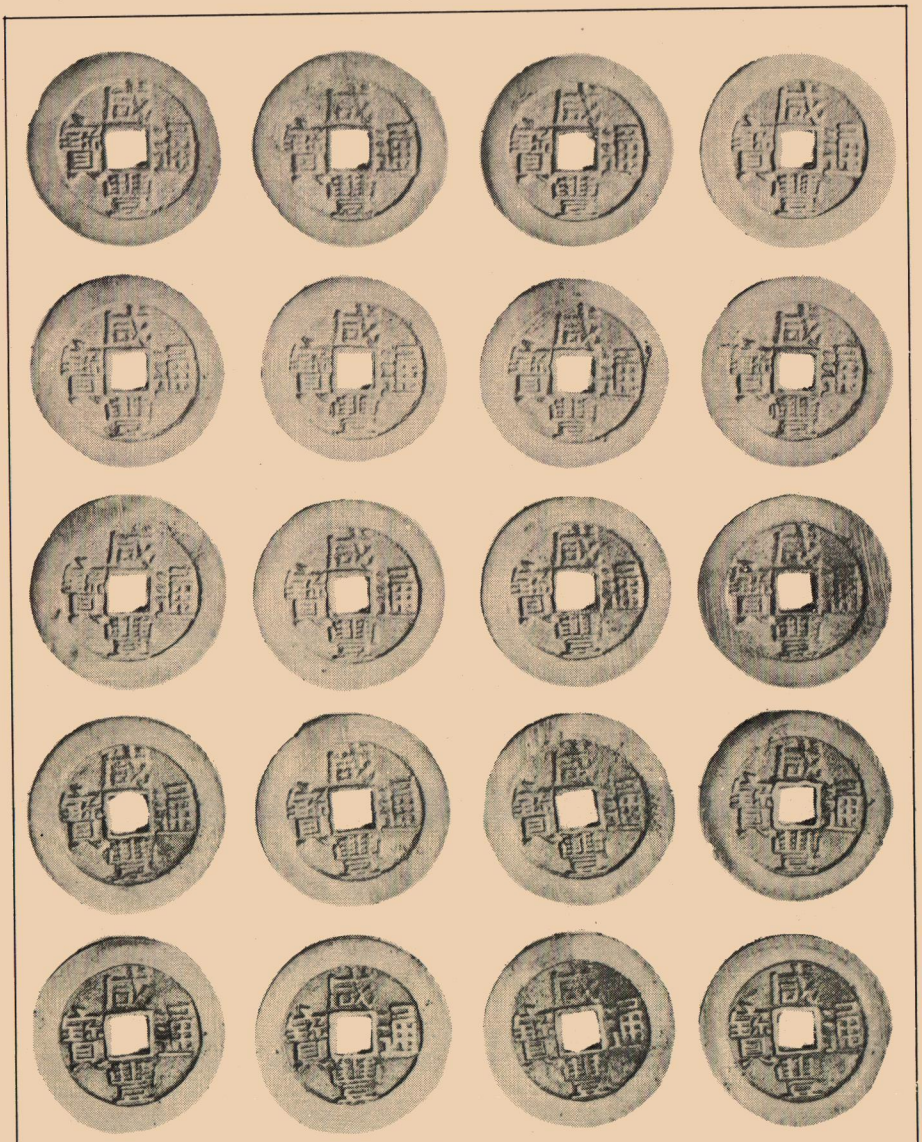

浙 Che = A certain river in *Che*kiang. Hangchow, *Che*kiang.

臺 T'ai = Eminent; terrace, stage, table; your. *Tai*wan (Formosa)

桂 Kuei = Cassia tree or cinnamon tree. *Kuei*linfu, Kiangsi.

陝 Shan = One of the few Chinese characters without any apparent meaning outside of being a proper

Pictures of emperors and empresses from, Portraits of Emperors and Empresses of China, by Li Ch'in-fen, January 10, 1926.

Obverse

noun. Shensi. (Here also is a Post Office spelling with only one reason for the "e" instead of an "a" and that is to separate it from another province Shansi. Otherwise it would only confuse the letter writer and Post Office identification.)

雲 Yűn = Clouds, Miyűnchen, Shansi or Yunnan.

章 Chang = To exhibit water. Changchoufu, Fukien.

Now that you have the translations of the actual characters and the names of the towns or provinces in which these mints are located go to work and make out a meaningful rhyme. And what would rhyme in the Chinese characters would not rhyme in the English translations. It reminds me of a VIP in the American Methodist Church who preached in the Asbury Methodist Church in Peiping (the church of which I was pastor in 1947-48) with a translator. His sermon was on, "Life's Ships — Friendship, Fellowship, Companionship and Relationship." I never saw a translator more perplexed and confused and frustrated than that chap was, because those ideas in the Chinese language had absolutely no relationship to the Chinese word for a ship. How dumb can some people be. All the puns on the word "ship" were mere duds in Chinese, but thanks to the cultured, polished, educated Chinese translator who never batted an eyebrow (but he did wince now and then) he took that empty shell and made a great sermon of it. I kidded him later for his ability to "come through" and not let the visiting preacher down and he acknowledged that he had never been hit with that kind of lightning before.

This is all to sum up the idea that this is actually a rhyme or a jingle in Chinese to assist collectors in remembering at least twenty of the mints and might express the idea of showing how widespread they were over the country. But despite how helpful it might be to an American audience "to explain what the rhyme means in English" and to give it more "reader appeal" I'll let it rest with the statement of my Chinese numismatist friend, "It really has no poetic meaning beyond being a crutch-of-sounds to assist in remembering mint names and places."

Additional Terms Standardized

The following words and phrases were defined at a recent meeting of the Numismatic Terms Standardization committee. The first set of agreed terms was published in June 1967, page 724; the second, Sept. 1967, page 1132. — Virginia Culver, chairman COUNTER — A type of token used for computing, counting or educational purposes as in games or reckoning.

ERROR — A coin, token, medal or paper money item evidencing a mistake made in its manufacture.

ESSAI (ESSAY) — Called in French, monnaies d'essai, and in German, probemunzen, originally called trial pieces or patterns, the object of which was to test the die and note the details of the design, frequently made of a different thickness and in other metals than the coins subsequently to be struck for circulation. Since 1940 it has been used extensively on pieces produced specifically to sell to collectors, some in large quantities. The same applies to probs and prova.

FANTASY COIN — Usually a piece of metal, marked with a device, not issued by a governing authority, intended to resemble money, but not usually in violation of counterfeit laws.

GEM — A relatively flawless piece of superlative quality.

Legal Pre-1933 Gold Coins

Part III (1800-1899)

UNITED STATES TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Contrary to popular opinion one cannot import any gold coin dated before 1933 even with an import license. On September 21, 1967 the Office of Domestic Gold and Silver Operations, U. S. Treasury Department released a list cataloguing the 1560 gold coins eligible for an import license.

Part I, Post-1933 Gold Coins, was published in the November issue, page 1389 and contained the list of gold coins struck and dated after 1933 for which the government would issue the license necessary to import these coins into the United States. Part II, gold coins dated between 1900 and 1933, was printed in December, page 1537 and Part III listing those coins dated before 1900 for which the government will issue an import permit is published here.

At intervals of approximately six months the Treasury will up-date the list with supplemental listings as new rulings are made. The foreign coins published here, if genuine and of legal issue, are considered to be of such exceptional numismatic value as to warrant the issuance of licenses for their importation into the United States under the provisions of Section 54.20(d) of the Treasury Department Gold Regulations.

It is to be noted that the listings are not complete as to all the foreign gold coins struck during the period but only those for which rulings have been made and licenses granted for their import. As new rulings are made on foreign coins, lists of such gold coins will be published in The Numismatist.

F.B.I. Seeks Collectors' Aid in duPont Theft!

duPont Coins Still Missing

In cooperation with your Federal Bureau of Investigation, The Numismatist publishes this report on the armed robbery of jewelry, cash and rare coins from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. duPont. If any of the coins listed on the partial inventory of stolen coins published here are offered to you make a note of the person or persons and notify your local FBI office immediately.

United States Coins — This portion of the collection totaled about 4,400 coins, being about 3,100 coins of silver, copper and bronze, and about 1,300 gold coins. The former including half-cents through silver dollars and trade dollars, includes at least one copy of every coin, with about 100 exceptions, of all the coins listed in R. S. Yeoman's "Guide Book of United States Coins." Some exceptional rarities are:

1796 half-cent, with pole, E.F.

1883 $20 gold, proof
1884 $20 gold, proof

Complete set of commemorative gold and an almost complete set of private gold issues as listed in the Red Book.

Shortly after midnight, October 5, 1967, five armed, masked males entered the duPont residence in Miami and took approximately $4,000 in cash, $1,000 of which was in loose silver dollars, approximately $50,000 in jewelry and an extensive coin collection.

This collection consisted of (1) a portion of the Mikhailovitch Collection of Russian Coins and Medals, valued by duPont at about $1 million; (2) an almost complete collection of U. S. regular issues, silver and gold, of commemorative gold, and of territorial gold, valued at approximately $500,000; (3) a collection of rare, scarce and common foreign coins of approximately 138 different foreign countries, cities and municipalities, valued at $50,000; and (4) a small collection of Chinese silver, copper, and brass coins of undetermined value.

The portion of the Mikhailovitch Collection taken, consisted of 257 items being, with four exceptions, gold and platinum coins and medals. These items made up approximately 37% of the total 712 gold and platinum items in the entire collection. These coins are mainly gold and platinum rubles, gold ducats, gold imperials, and the medals are commemorative gold.

The Chinese coins, approximately 95, constitute a separate collection given to Lammot duPont by a relative who had spent some time in China. They consist of silver, copper and brass coins, being both of regular issue and of memorial type.

Due to the fact that the thieves wore hoods and plain dark clothing, the victims were unable to furnish a very detailed physical description. However, the most distinctive thief was described as 5 feet 9 inches tall, very heavy build, who waddled when he walked and apparently had difficulty in breathing. All five of these individuals were armed with revolvers and an automatic pistol. They were armed and considered dangerous by law enforcement officials. Should you be offered any of the coins described notify your local FBI office immediately.

History Under Glass

It Costs Nothing To Participate

Many letters have been received asking "What is National Coin Week, what is its purpose and intent?"

Basically and fundamentally it is a contest. A contest to see who can get the most publicity for our hobby.

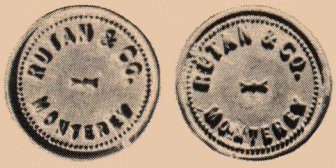

Its intent is to get recognition. It has awards and prizes the same as any other contest. Its rules are simple and brief. Anyone may participate, but only members of the American Numismatic Association are eligible for awards. New ideas are important. Originality is an essential factor. Those who do not wish to put together a scrapbook may fill out an Activity Report and participate in this manner.

Remember this is not a one-week contest. It is an all-year event culminating the week of April 21-27, 1968. Put our hobby before the public and get members for your individual club and the ANA. The theme for this year is "History Under Glass." Get your displays out and create interest in this worthwhile endeavor. Remember, "It costs nothing but interest and good will to participate . . ."

Metal: brass. Size: 13(21mm). Border: no. 4; edge, no. 1. Issued 1890s. Rarity 8.

This piece was forwarded to the writer for verification. While it was easily determined to have been issued in Monterey, California about 1890, the business of the issuer remains unknown.

This piece came from the Mosher collection. The envelope was marked, "obtained in 1898." So, that piece must have been issued about 1890. The black letters are in perfect shape, it was, no doubt, either a bar check or a hat check.

Editor's Note: The Token Collectors' Page returned to The Numismatist with the August 1967 issue. It had last appeared in 1961 and readers are advised to refer to the September 1951 edition, page 953, The Classification of Tokens, by Melvin and George Fuld, for the key to the numbers attributed to the tokens listed on these pages. Newer members may borrow this edition from the library, a limited number of September 1951 copies are available at $1.00 each, also from the library.

Collectors who can supply additional information on any of the tokens, published or unpublished, are asked to write the author, Melvin Fuld, 6701 Park Heights Ave., Apt. 1D, Baltimore, Maryland 21215.

Die makers in the 1870s used white metal extensively to strike some intricate designs. Being soft and ductile they obtained results not possible with harder metals with the then stamping presses available. A beautiful piece.

Metal: aluminum. Size: 16 (25mm). Border, no. 4; edge, no. 1. Issued about 1890. Rarity 5.

While the state is not mentioned, atlases mention this town as located in Kansas. An aluminum piece showing considerable wear while this metal was first used in the 1870s, it was not used extensively until the 1890-1900 period, primarily because of cost. The early aluminum pieces were made of a softer alloy than pieces struck at the beginning of the Twentieth Century. This is a fine example of early type aluminum strikings.

Metal: obverse, brass; reverse, color made from brass. Size: 21½ (33½mm). Issued about 1876. Rarity 7. A "shell card." Border: no. 5; edge, no. 1.

For years we have been attempting to determine just what the 23 shown in the field represented, but to no avail. This piece is number 259 in Mitchell and Rulau in their Embossed or Shell Cards appearing in TAMS Journal. This listing is a must for every collector of tokens and begins in volume 1, page 24, July 1961 of the above journal.

Book Reviews

Books are legacies that a great genius leaves to mankind, which are delivered down from generation to generation, as presents to the posterity of those who are yet unborn. — Joseph Addison, 1672-1719.

Elementary My Dear Watson

BYZANTINE COIN VALUES — A GUIDE by Paul F. Rynearson. 108 pages. Illustrated. Soft cover. Pegasus Publishing Co. 1967. $3.00.

Who is better fitted to write a review of a new coin book than a numismatist who knows practically nothing about the phase of coinage history covered by it? When a book on Byzantine coins can be understood and helpful to me, then it must be one which anyone interested in such coins will find salutary.

This price guide is divided into three parts: the first listing 157 bronze pieces, of which 54 are illustrated; the second part listing 232 gold coins, of which 75 are illustrated; and lastly there are 133 pieces of the rare silver coins, with 17 illustrated. I found no reason stated for the fewer illustrations in the silver section. Each numbered coin is either a different design or denomination, those issued at more than one mint being so listed but not numbered. The illustrations are excellent. With the help of these and brief notes in each section, a map showing mint locations, several rarity and other tables, much can be learned about this unpopular series.

Each piece listed is assigned a rarity number and the guide to present day prices is found by checking the proper rarity table. For example: a solidus of Leo I (457-474), no. 178, is rarity 3, which the table values at from $30 to $60 in VF to EF condition — the only condition listed. But a solidus of Leo's wife, Verina, no. 180, is rarity 10 which puts it in the $700 to $1200 bracket. The quality of paper and printing is excellent, and the size of the book is identical with that of this magazine. It may be ordered at $3.00 from Pegasus Publishing Co., 3051 Briand Ave., San Diego, Calif. 92122. — Glenn S.

Something Different

SPENDEN-MEDAILLEN AUS PORZELLAN UND TON by Karl Scheuch. 107 pages. Illustrated. Card-cover. Published by author, Ober-eschbach, Germany. $5.75.

Medals of Porcelain and Clay, a companion volume to Coins of Porcelain and Clay, is by the same author. Here we have the listings of those porcelain pieces that were issued for special occasions, as memorial days, the erection of monuments, etc., but that do not have an indication of value in marks or talers thereon.

The author has increased the usefulness of this book by inserting the illustrations in the text, rather than using separate plates, and the entire book is printed on slick paper adding clarity and detail to the illustrations. The book covers over 200 major types and breaks them down into the types of clay or ceramic used, color of and types of decorations added. While the text is in German an explanation of the markings and abbreviations as well as the decorations is given in English to aid in that portion of the attribution. The illustrations are reduced due to the space limitations, but the clarity of the cuts makes it easy to locate the wanted item. We are at a disadvantage in not being able to check the volume for completeness as the porcelains from Lobau that we have access to were not listed.

A table listing all the varieties and their relative rarity is included, and to those wanting to write up their collection, brief bibliographies of many of the personages pictured on the porcelains is included. All in all, we feel that Mr. Scheuch has done a splendid job on this book and many collectors that do not even have a porcelain item in their collection will still want this book in their library. — R. A. Lamb.

Butter and Egg Money

IDAHO MERCHANTS' TOKENS — 1865-1967 by Frank R. Schell. 102 pages. Illustrated. Paper cover. Schell Publications. $5.00.

The first edition of Idaho Merchants' Tokens is off the press and in the hands of exonumists interested in the numismatics of the Gem state. No doubt, it was a monumental undertaking, the book incorporates over 900 obverse and 300 reverse photographs of the actual tokens used by the merchants. Among the photographs are such rarities as tokens from DeLamar, Hill City, Silver City and other ghost towns.

Recorded and photographed are the merchants' issues from 134 towns and cities in the state, together with a rarity scale based on the author's observations of some five thousand tokens in the past two years. Although a few pictures did not reprint well, most are of excellent quality.

Idaho Merchants' Tokens would have far better traced the history of merchandising in that state had the author covered just a few words about the issuer and the reason behind each issue. It's nice to know that a merchant issued a token for, say ten cents, it's just nicer to know what the token was used for, too.

Perhaps the author can correct this in a later edition. These detractions should not keep the interested collector from obtaining a copy. It is the only such listing ever published and we can appreciate the author's hard work and deep research.

Then, too, it is a very limited edition, only 600 copies printed and these on fine paper, spirally bound to lay flat and a must for the serious token collector and student of early-Idaho history. They may be ordered direct from the author, Frank R. Schell, P. O. Box 112, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301. — PR.

Down Under

COINS OF BRITISH OCEANIA, 4th edition, by Robert Clarke. 90 pages. Illustrated. Hard cover. Dansco, Venice, California. $2.75.

The fourth edition of this standard catalogue covers the entire coinage of Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and New Guinea. Its most important feature is the accurate listing of Australian gold sovereigns and half sovereigns. The author has done a tremendous amount of research on the subject since the last issue of this catalogue and it is probably the most accurate listing of Australian gold from 1852 to 1931.

Good illustrations of some of the more important Australian die varieties are given. Many more varieties are listed and priced but the author points to the diminishing interest in die varieties "as collectors are collecting other countries rather than varieties."

Mintage figures are given for all the mints and prices listed from good to extra fine and in the case of more recent coins, uncirculated. A section is devoted to the coin designers and their initials as they appear on the coins. Other pertinent data is also listed. Copies may be obtained from Dansco, 2300 W. Washington Blvd., Venice, Calif., a paper cover edition is also available at $1.75. — J. Remick

New and Recent Issues

by Ernst Kraus, LM 129

It is the important duty of The Numismatist to record and illustrate new coins. To accomplish this, members in the United States and abroad are invited to submit new issues to Ernst Kraus, Room 939 (include room number in address), 393 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 10001. Coins will be photographed and returned as soon as possible, and a credit line will be given to anyone assisting.

Germany (East)

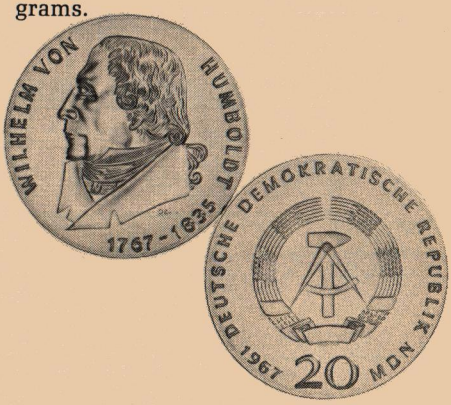

Communist East Germany's latest commemoratives continue to follow the patterns of previous years (see The Numismatist, Sept. 1967, page 1134), commemorating anniversaries of famous people.

Kathe Kollwitz is portrayed on the 10 mark on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of her birth. A German printmaker and sculptoress, she was an eloquent spokesman for the victims of social injustice, war and inhumanity. When her husband, Dr. Karl Kollwitz, opened his practice in a proletarian district of Berlin, her exposure determined the course of her art. Her prints showing the faces of the poor, the starving and the miserable during the period following World War I made her famous, yet because of its evident socialist leanings Adolph Hitler banned the exhibiting of her works in 1936. Born in East Prussia, it is understandable how communist Germany picked this woman to be portrayed on their 10 mark commemorative for 1967.

Wilhelm Von Humboldt, shown on the 20 mark issue, was a less likely candidate. The famous German philologist, diplomat and man of letters, was picked primarily because 1967 was the 200th anniversary of his birth. Von Humboldt was the first to state that the character and structure of a language expresses the inner life and knowledge of its speaker and that language differs from one another in the same way and to the same extent as those who use them.

Honduras

Centuries before the white man came to the new world, Honduras with neighbor Guatemala, was the homeland of the remarkable Mayas. After Columbus came rivaling factions of Spaniards from Mexico and from Panama. The first quarter of the 16th century was marked by bloody battles between the Spaniards and Lempira, the Indian chieftain, who for a time successfully resisted the Spaniards' advance into the interior of the country. Lempira's portrait not only appears on the current coinage of the country but his name designates the monetary unit of Honduras as well. It is also a symbol of liberty and valor.

20 centavos, 1967. Copper-nickel. Obverse: portrait of Lempira to left; legend for value around in outer circle, 20 CENTAVOS DE LEMPIRA. Reverse: arms in center; date below; legend around, REPUBLICA DE HONDURAS. Reeded edge. 18mm., 2.3 grams.

The Banco Central de Honduras released these two denominations on September 23, 1967 to replace coins of similar value struck in .900 fine silver.

Ivory Coast

The Ivory Coast is the richest of the former territories of French West Africa. Its wealth comes chiefly from agriculture and forestry. President since independence in 1960, Felix Houphouet Boigny is portrayed on the obverse of this country's first coin, although the intent of the issue is dubious. Houphouet Boigny, in addition to being president and premier, is also the minister of finance and economic affairs, defense and even agriculture.

10 francs, 1966. Silver. Obverse: head in profile to right; date below between two stars; legend around, PRESIDENT FELIX HOUPHOUET BOIGNY. Pakistan

Ayub Khan's federal republic of Pakistan is a divided nation, not in ideology but in geography. West Pakistan, the main part, lies on the Arabian Sea, then divided by the huge subcontinent on India lies East Pakistan on the Bay of Bengal. With distance comes language differences and Pakistan is no exception. In their west Urdu is the official tongue and in the east it's Bengali and coin legends recognize both on the same coin.

Western Samoa

The Pacific Ocean spans one-third of the globe and in this vast expanse, forming a triangle touching Hawaii, New Zealand and Easter Island, lies the territory known as Polynesia. The name itself means "many islands" and the tall brown-skinned natives earned the title of "Vikings of the Pacific" for their daring crossings of ocean wastes in frail canoes.

Western Samoa is the world's first fully independent Polynesian state and is also one of the smallest countries, having an area of 1,130 square miles and a population of approximately 114,000, mainly Polynesian. Western Samoa was administered by New Zealand from 1914 until the territory gained independence in 1962. The economy is mainly concerned with the growing of coconuts, bananas, breadfruit, mangoes and oranges which thrive in the tropical climate and volcanic soil.

Coins of New Zealand continued in use after independence are just now being replaced with this new decimal series. They were struck at the Royal Mint in London.

1 sene, 1967. Bronze. LATE WORLD COIN NEWS

AUSTRIA

Where Engravers Learn

The Austrian Post Office has just released a stamp commemorating the 275th anniversary of the foundation of the Academy of Fine Arts in Vienna, an institution responsible for turning out some of the greatest medalists of the 18th and 19th centuries.

Since its foundation the Academy has been the center of artistic life in Vienna. At the end of the 17th century an ample development in the economic and cultural field commenced. Austria, a powerful European empire until 1918, maintained intense reciprocal relations with all the important centers of art and culture of that time. Artists and sculptors from all countries came to Vienna, the capital of the bygone empire, and brought their style and ideas with them; many of these artists were appointed to a professorship in the Academy.

Peter Strudel founded the academy in 1692 as a private school. When he died in 1714 the school practically ceased to exist and was re-established 12 years later by Emperor Charles VI on the initiative of Jacob van Schuppen.

Mathias Schmutzer, a former student, was sent to Paris by Empress Maria Theresa for further study. On his return he founded the "Copper-Engraving School." Jakob Schmutzer was the founder of the "Metallurgical School" or "Bossage – Alloying and Engraving Academy." In 1758 the first trade school was established enabling sons of Austrian medalists and manufacturers to be trained in the trade of their fathers so that a certain independency of the art from Paris was provided.

The present Academy of Fine Arts houses notable collections of works of art, including medals, which have always been examples and a means of instruction for the students. Austria commemorated the 275th anniversary with a postage issue, quite naturally it depicts a medal depicting the academy depicting fine art.

GREAT BRITAIN

Deep Freeze

Great Britain has ordered that all its coins struck from now until decimalization in 1971 retain the date 1967. The move was aimed at stopping any bulk speculation in the soon to be obsolete denominations now in circulation. The move reminds collectors of a similar move by United States treasury officials during the height of the speculative craze in the U. S. in 1963 and 1964.

The trend in British coin collecting is following the same pattern recorded in the U. S. three years ago. British dealers have noted that "the roll market has hit Britain and everyone is buying brilliant uncirculated modern English coins. Already the 1967 halfpennies have created quite a stir."

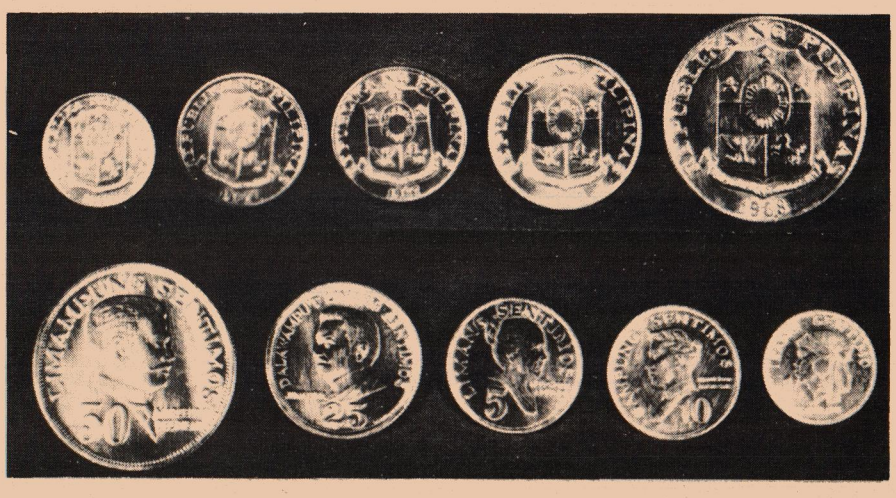

The market in bag buying has been so strong that the Royal Mint has issued instruction to banks not to issue any complete bags of new pennies or halfpennies except for commercial purposes.

It is expected that the British order will have the same effect as that issued by the U. S. Treasury ordering the retention of the 1964 date on U. S.

ANGOLA

The Portuguese Ministry of Overseas Provinces has announced a series of postage stamps for circulation in their Province of Angola which in effect will be an illustrated catalogue, in miniature, of the orders and decorations of Portugal. A number of awards are depicted on each stamp of the ten set series in full color.

coins. That order remained in effect until December 1965 and has been accused by many dealers as the reason for the soft market in U. S. coins at the present.

PORTUGAL

Notes Recalled

Portugal has never had the habit of recalling paper money issued by the government. However, due to a recent bank robbery at Figeira da Foz, near Coimbra, when a number of bank robbers escaped with the equivalent sum of over $1,000,000, the Banco de Portugal has decided to recall all the 1000 escudo notes (plate no. 9) with the portrait of Dom Diniz, and all the 500 escudo notes with the picture of Dom Silva.

All stolen notes were of these two types and the government has their serial numbers. Thus far, none of the men involved in the bank theft have been apprehended. First reports indicated that they used an airplane for the getaway and had flown towards Tangier.

PHILIPPINES

Starting a New Year

For the first time in the 400 years history of the Philippines, profiles of Filipino heroes and legends in the national language will be used on an all new regular coinage issues to be released in circulation around the beginning of the year. Although some national heroes have been depicted on commemorative coins, the strong feeling of nationalism in this new and developing nation, prompted the Central Bank of the Philippines to call for this new issue.

Shown above are the first photos released. The illustrations shown appeared first in the Manila Times and then were flown direct to ANA editorial offices in Colorado Springs. Prominent Philippine collector, C. L. Inductivo of Manila, supplied the following descriptions:

Lapu-Lapu — (One centavo — Isang sentimo) was a tribal king on the island of Mactan when Magellan invaded its shores on April 27, 1521. In the fierce hand-to-hand battle Filipino bolos and bamboo spears clashed with the Spanish swords, the Spanish invaders were beaten and Magellan was killed. With this victory Lapu-Lapu earned the distinction of being the first defender of Filipino freedom.

Tandang Sora — (Five centavos — Limang sentimos) whose real name was Melchora Aguino was a Filipino woman who rendered heroic services to the cause of the Filipino revolution against Spain, was exiled to Guam for six years and on orders of the American authorities returned to the Philippines in 1903.

Francisco Baltazar — (Ten centavos — Sampung sentimos) 1789-1862 is hailed as the prince of Tagalog poets and his masterpiece, Florante at Laura, is regarded as the greatest epic in Tagalog prose, the national language.

Juan Luna — (Twenty-five centavos — Dalawang pu at limang sentimos) was a painter and an active advocate of the Propaganda movement for reforms of Spanish rule in the Philippines.

Marcelo H. del Pilar — (Fifty centavos — Limang pung sentimos) — a journalist and brilliant lawyer and orator in Spanish and in the native tongue, was one of the leading personalities who sought reforms through peaceful means. To escape Spanish persecution, he fled to Spain and continued his fight for reforms through the La Solidaridad the organ of the propaganda movement. In extreme poverty, he died on July 4, 1896 in Barcelona, Spain, at the age of 46.

" . . . And All I Ask Is A Tall Ship"

Fame first came to Francis Chichester many years ago as a pioneer long-distance flyer over the oceans that he has since challenged and conquered. Yet, this was not his first great sailing achievement — three single-handed Atlantic crossings marked him as a man of supreme skill and unfailing courage. Now the tributes for his greatest achievement, a lone-round the world voyage in a 53-foot boat with but one port of call en route. To mark the event aboard his Gipsy Moth IV, Britain's leading medalist, Paul Vincze, has struck a superb medallic portrait of Sir Francis with a reverse showing Gipsy Moth IV and Sir Francis Drake's Golden Hind. The sale of the medal is being handled by Spink and Son Ltd., of England.

San Diego Shaping Up

For the Junior

A Look at MAD Money

The Lindstrom-Criswell team promoting Young Numismatists leaves no stones unturned in getting recognition for the junior collectors. We don't know if they want the credit or not but somebody really turned a stone over the other day and up came a page of publicity in none other than MAD magazine. (Editor's note: we really don't buy this magazine, just swiped a copy from the neighbor's twelve-year-old son).

Says MAD: "In the old days, kids used to collect worthless things like 'gum cards' and 'bottle caps.' Today, the big hobby among members of our modern younger generation is 'coin collecting.' (No fools, you modern kids!). And so, after diligent searching (and some sneaky counterfeiting), we are able to present a collection of rare coins that aren't (but should be) in the catalogues. So feast your beady little mercenary eyes on these MAD MINT-LIES —"

The ONE RED CENT

. . . every door-to-door salesman promises his product won't cost you unless you're 100% satisfied.

The PENNY

. . . your wife is always accusing you of being a pincher of.

The TWO CENTS

. . . someone is always putting into your private conversation.

The PLUGGED NICKEL

. . . your chances of getting that raise aren't worth.

The DIME

. . . used car dealers always assure you their cars will stop on.

The DOLLAR

. . . your doctor is always telling you you're sound as, even though you feel awful.

I hope our more serious readers will forgive us the license we took in presenting these. The artist was Bob Clarke; the writer, William Garvin, and believe it or not, it was copyrighted 1967 by E. C. Publications, Inc.

Slabaugh Joins the Franklin Mint

Arlie Slabaugh

The Franklin Mint has appointed Arlie R. Slabaugh, one of America's foremost numismatists, to the newly-created post of Director of Numismatic Information. Slabaugh, formerly associate editor of the Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine, is widely known for his knowledgeable catalogues, articles and exhibits on numismatics.

Joseph M. Segel, president of General Numismatics Corporation, of which The Franklin Mint of Yeadon, Pa., is a division, advises that Slabaugh will be in charge of supplying information concerning Franklin Mint issues to collectors and publications. He will also continue his research and writings on various phases of numismatics.

Now 42, Slabaugh has been a serious collector since he was 13, and has frequently been called "Mr. Numismatics." A member of the American Numismatic Association since 1941, in addition to local and regional clubs, he has for several years been a member of the board of governors of the Token and Medal Society and an associate editor of their journal.

At the 1967 ANA convention in Miami Beach, Slabaugh received the highest award of the Token and Medal Society, the coveted Medal of Merit. Previously he has received similar recognition from the Chicago Coin Club and the Central States Numismatic Society and has also received the Nathan Gold Memorial Award presented by Numismatic News for the advancement of paper money collecting.

tion by an individual from San Diego's, Sylvia Haffner, exhibit chairman for ANA's 1968 convention and author of the fast-selling book, "The History of Modern Israel's Money, from 1917 to 1967." When she made her donation, Sylvia explained, "Numismatics desperately needs a responsible authenticating service, because today's counterfeits are getting harder and harder for the collector to detect."

Dan Wong, Yuma, Arizona, was the second individual to contribute to the authentication trust's $50,000 drive for funds to set up a self-financing service to which collectors and dealers may send a coin and get the right answer to the question, "Is this coin genuine, or fake?"

ANA's board, by special action, has voted to contribute $500.00 to the fund, which is matched by the $500.00 by OIN and the $500.00 by PNG.

Either Washington, D. C., or New York City is the planned location for the new service, which there would give access to the huge museums of coins and numismatic libraries of The Smithsonian Institution and The American Numismatic Society.

Contributions (however small or large) by individual collectors, by dealers, and by local and state coin clubs, are to be sent to any one of the fund's three trustees: Abe Kosoff, Box 456, Encino, Calif. 91317; John Pittman, 4 Acton Street, Rochester, N. Y. 14615; Virgil Hancock, Box 936, Bellaire, Texas 77401.

None of the collected money will be spent for fund-raising expenses, but it is being deposited in a trust account with the Houston National Bank, Houston, Texas. Funds only can be withdrawn upon the signatures of all three trustees. If after a reasonable time the trustees decide that they can't raise the needed money to start the authenticating service, then all the donated funds shall be returned in toto to the donors.

Numismatic Vignettes

• An excellent book for all who are interested in engravings is The Mavericks, American Engravers by Stephen DeWitt Stephens, 1950. Lest you be mislead by the title, "Maverick" was the family name of a line of early American artists, of whom Peter R. (1780-1831) became the best known. The story of his life, with related sketches of others in the family, makes interesting and enlightening reading – particularly so because his later years were entwined with the lives of several other well known engravers, such as Asher B. Durand and John W. Casilear.

Peter's works were many and varied but of special interest to numismatists is the fact that he produced over 100 notes for banks in Georgia, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and the Republic of Colombia. These and many other items are described in the 98-page check list of Maverick works. The 240-page book includes 15 glossy pages of portraits and illustrations. It probably is still in print, and may be found now and then in second-hand book shops.

• Just about every collector of paper money (and many others) know about the Heath counterfeit detectors but not all are aware that at least one such publication preceded Heath's. The first edition by Heath is dated 1864, the second 1866. How to Detect Counterfeit Bank Notes by George Peyton is dated 1856 and is quite similar, in its approach to the subject, to Heath's.

In 1865, between Heath's first and second editions, E. J. Wilbur and E. P. Eastman issued their A Treatise on Counterfeit, Altered and Spurious Bank Notes. Its unique feature is a reprint of "Making Money" from the February 1862 issue of Harper's New Monthly Magazine.

• 25 Years Ago. Advertised for sale in the December 1942 issue of The Numismatist were, among a variety of items, the following: 1877 br. unc. cent, $14.50; 1854 br. unc. $3 gold, $12.00; 1879 perfect br. prf. $3 gold, $20.00; 1864 red unc. 2-cent piece, $0.40; 1937 proof set, $9.00; proof nickels, each year 1890-1912, from $1.35 to $3.60 each; 1909-S VDB cent, br. unc. $3.00; and 20 different types of commem. half dollars, br. unc., for $20.00.

• News, according to the dictionary is a report of a recent event or of information previously unknown. Of course, what is news to one person may not be news to another, and a news item may be of great interest and concern to me yet you "couldn't care less" about it. Furthermore, the manner in which news is presented may influence the reception it gets, as will the mood of the reader or listener.

Nothing to do with numismatics, you say? Only if you never try to write an article on the subject, or make a talk before your club, or advertise to buy or sell something, or even read or listen to someone else's sales pitch. Remember, if you do any of these things, the way your "news" is presented will have a lot to do with who gets interested and the results you'll get. Do you ever read the ads for a well-known compact car, VW? If so, why?

• Numismatists have lost a good friend in the retirement of Henry J. Holtzclaw as director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Rarely does one find a person in government service as helpful to serious numismatists as Mr. Holtzclaw was during his 14-year tenure in the office. He was a perfectionist and would go the limit in giving information about the production of paper money and from the bureau's files. His "factory" was one of the few federal agencies where efficiency has improved steadily and unit costs have not risen.

Yes, we were sorry to see Director Holtzclaw retire, which he did, incidentally, on his 50th anniversary day with the Bureau. We feel confident that the man who replaces him, James A. Conlon, will carry on the fine work and friendly relationship of his predecessor. After all, Mr. Conlon has spent the last quarter of a century in the Bureau where he started as an apprentice plate printer.—Glenn S.

We're going to let you in on a secret that we've kept for sixteen years

Stack's, alone, built the world famous J. K. Lilly collection:
the finest gold coin collection ever formed.

Numismatics' best kept secret started way back in 1951 when the late Josiah K. Lilly came to Stack's after reading of our "Executive Collection Plan". He told us of his desire to build a collection without peer . . . appointed us as his exclusive agent in the pursuit of that goal . . . and then stipulated that our efforts on his behalf remain absolutely confidential.

In all that time . . . in a field where little goes unnoticed . . . engaged in a task of great difficulty . . . not one word of our activities escaped the confines of our offices.

And while we maintained silence, we worked. We ranged far and wide seeking individual pieces, entire series, new acquisitions. We conducted original research, extensive probes into specialized numismatic areas such as Pioneer and Territorial coinage to establish authenticity — verify historical facts. We attended public auctions and concluded private purchases in every corner of the world.

We kept our secret well.

The fact that we performed successfully is attested by a collection . . . unmatched by any on the face of the globe . . . and proven in value by independent, outside appraisal. We excluded ourselves from the appraisal for fear of seeming less than totally objective.

And so what does it all mean to you? Only this . . .

What Stack's performed for Mr. Lilly can be done for you. The discretion — the reliability — the professionalism — can be put to work in your behalf, on any scale you desire. Whether it's to get a youngster started with his first collection of Indian Head pennies . . . or to assist in the formation of a collection on any level . . . Stack's can be of service.

May we discuss it with you?

Red Book

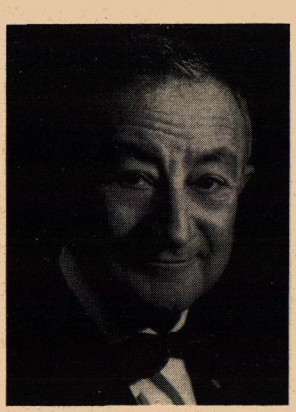

(1968...21st edition)

Once again, as we have for 20 years, Whitman offers a new edition of its authoritative Guide Book of U. S. Coins, cataloging the vast field of U. S. coinage since 1616.

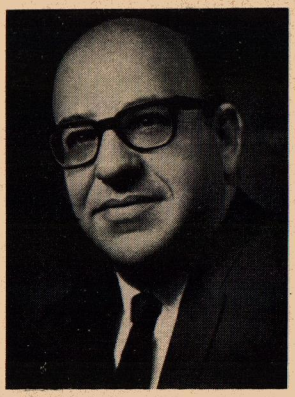

This edition lists a greater than usual number of price changes, adjusted according to the current market. These changes were arrived at by a panel of 46 coin authorities—in almost that many states—working under the senior editorship of R. S. Yeoman. Coin values are given in as many as seven condition columns, with mint figures adjacent to dates. 256 pages. This standard reference work is now at your dealer's and other stores. $2.00. No. 9051.

BEST TIME TO BEGIN ANYTHING IS WHEN THE YEAR IS BRAND NEW

A pleasurable thing to start now is the acquisition of a type-set of brand new paper currency, preferably the old, large size series.

Listed below are specimens as superb and splendid and unblemished as the New Year. Each note is hand-picked by me for its centering, brilliant inks, and all-round newness.

Jack Friedberg's 6th Edition, due any day, will show substantial increases in prices, straight across the board. Figures herewith are Friedberg's numbers. Choice of Banks, and/or series, and/or types will be mine.

Remember, there is not a note listed on this page, except it be a brilliantly perfect one — not even one classed as "about uncirculated."

With great pride, we announce the issuance of an outstanding artistic work of medallic art. No photograph or reproductive technique can capture the richness and simplicity of this beautiful medallion. The "Four Assassinated Presidents" medal is one of the finest artistic works offered by Presidential Art Medals. This striking historical masterpiece must be seen to be appreciated. It is unusual to find four full view delicately detailed portraits in sculptured high relief on a single large medal. The obverse portrays an exceptional likeness of Lincoln, Kennedy, Garfield and McKinley with their signatures incised below the portraits. The reverse depicts the flag of the United States and the Presidential flag with the following inscription in relief: "PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA WHO GAVE THEIR LIVES IN DEVOTIONAL SERVICE TO THIS NATION." Dates of each President and the Presidential Seal is in raised relief.

The FOUR ASSASSINATED PRESIDENTS MEDAL is issued as follows:
1,000 pieces serially numbered from 1-1000 Silver (.999+) 2¾" dia.$39.50 ea.
Unnumbered pieces Antique Bronze 2¾" dia.$ 5.00 ea.
Descriptive pamphlet and metal desk stand with each medal

PLEASE NOTE: Due to an extremely limited issue of Silver medals, orders are accepted contingent to prior sale. Special plastic holders with gold lettering are available at $4.00 each.

RARE HAWAIIAN COINS AT DISCOUNT PRICES

Low mintage. Listed in the Red Book. Many melted, especially dollars of which over 400,000 were melted, according to the records at San Francisco. Many additional coins of each denomination were lost to the sea during a revolt by the people against the government in 1893. Few were left. In fact — during our visit to Hawaii we searched the Islands to locate Hawaiian coins and discovered to our amazement that few people living on the Islands even knew that these coins existed. Most inhabitants were amazed when we showed them coins struck by the U. S. Mint for circulation in Hawaii. They are not only no longer in circulation, but few Hawaiians realize that at one time they had their own coinage. Check your Red Book — Excellent investment potential per dollar invested.

There will be obsolutely no surpluses available after the order-taking period.

The Sudan hereby announces that beginning in 1967 it will issue Proof Sets for the first time in its history. Each set will consist of one 20 Piastres (crown size), one 10 Piastres, one 5 Piastres, one 2 Piastres, one 10 milliomes, one 5 Milliomes, one 2 Milliomes, and one 1 Milliome. The different denominations of Piastres are in cupro-nickel and the different denominations of Milliomes are of copper content.

Each set will be mint sealed and packaged similar to the U. S. Proof Sets and will meet the accepted standards to be defined as "Proof" as understood by North American collectors.

Sudan has announced its intentions to produce Proof Sets on a yearly basis.

Did you miss out on first-year issues 1936 U. S. Proof Sets, 1954 Canadian Proof Sets or 1966 Panama Proof Sets? Historically, the first-year issues have proven to be outstanding investments, particularly when it is a part of a continuing program. Don't miss the opportunity to obtain the first-year issue of the 1967 Sudan Proof Sets.

The price of $15.00 per set will be maintained to all. There are no secret discounts for quantity purchases. Dealers who purchase the 1967 Sudan Sets will have to depend upon appreciation of price in order to make a profit, the same as they do with U. S. Proof Sets.

The 1967 Sudan Proof Sets will be struck at the modern mint in Khartoum, Sudan. Delivery is expected shortly after the order-taking period.

IMPORTANT NOTICE —

The acceptance of orders is dependent upon the mint's ability to meet the demand or until February 28th (whichever comes first). Each order must be accompanied by your remittance and orders are limited to 25 sets per person or firm. Sudan reserves the right to reduce or cancel any order. In the event of a reduction or cancellation of your order, full refund will be made on any undelivered sets. Don't miss the opportunity to order your 1967 Sudan Proof Sets at the original mint-issue price of $15.00 per set.

BUYING - BUYING

We are especially interested in the purchase of Scandinavian material. Our greatest need lies in Norway Coinage from Christian IV through Oscar II which covers the 1628 to 1905 period.

As an example, for Extremely Fine crown size specimens of Christian IV and Frederick III we will pay $100 and on up depending on rarity. Likewise, for a Davenport #245 Speciedaler dated 1867 we will pay $100. For a Yeoman #6 half-Speciedaler dated 1861 we will pay the same and for a Yeoman #20 half-Speciedaler of 1873 we will pay $250, and so on for any key or semi-key Nineteenth century date.

In Swedish material, our greatest interest lies in 16th through 18th Century minor and crown size pieces alike and we will pay correspondingly high prices. Quote us from Davenport, Tingstrom, Oldenburg, Craig, or any text you like and you can depend on a swift answer for confirmation.

Our interest is also in the purchase of Christian II to Christian IV specimens covering the period of 1513 to 1648 in Danish, plus any scarce and rare Davenport numbers 1287 thru 1312. Here again we prefer Extremely Fine condition where possible.

Please let us know what you have for sale. In some instances we may be able to assist you with material you are looking for.

Whether Buying or Selling you can be completely confident in doing business with our Company. Your satisfaction is our guarantee.

". . . as soon as God shall enable us"

This magnificent coin from the Spink collection was minted during the Civil War from plate surrendered by the Oxford Colleges to Charles I. Unfortunately the King's promise to repay "as soon as God shall enable us" was never redeemed. These beautiful Three Pound pieces or Triple Unites remain the largest English gold coins ever minted.

It was only 20 years later that Spink and Son was founded in 1666. With a reputation as Britain's oldest numismatic authority, we believe we can offer collectors the finest selection of coins, medals and orders of all periods, and provide expert advice on all aspects of numismatics.

FLYING SAUCERS

Three ply plexiglas holder shown, inside case.

Not really, but anyone opening his 1967 Presentation set of Canadian coins has undoubtedly seen his coins fly into orbit. The resulting "dings" can lower the value or at the very least become a source of worry. If you have been thinking "I'd better not open the case, because they will fall out," here is your answer to preserving your Canadian Centennial set and not worrying about flying saucers!! The CAPITAL B-3 or B-4 holders fit snugly inside the original presentation case after removing the original pad. Only 5 x 5 in size and available in white or black, the holders are very reasonably priced too.

B-3 Holds Canadian 1967 Centennial coins, including opening for $20.00 gold coin 5.00

B-4 Same as above but includes medal opening, no gold 5.00

B-1 (also available) for Bahama decimal 9 coin sets 6.00

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Once a year at least it is well to take time out from our hobby to give thanks for our blessings, and to make plans for a pleasant and rewarding New Year.

While making your plans, one of them might be to write for my 1968 Stock List of foreign coins, which will be released around Jan. 1. If you are now on my mailing list you will receive this soon. If you are not, better write and we will send it at once. No charge, and it might possibly help you toward that Happy New Year, too!

Whatever you collect, my best wishes to all of you for a most Happy and Prosperous New Year.

SCRAPBOOK READERS GET A LOT THAT OTHERS MISS

Several of Whitman's Reference Series Books and Hewitt's Information Series Books first appeared as Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine articles and from 10 to 20 NSM articles are reviewed in each issue of the American Numismatic Society's "Numismatic Literature" — graphic testimony to the lasting importance of the editorial content.

Back numbers have a market value from $2.00 to $25.00 per volume, so by becoming a regular subscriber you almost have your cake and eat it too!

Two authoritative Whitman coin books long accepted as standard references

Whitman's library of coin reference books, some 40 in all, is by far the largest of any numismatic publisher. Among these 40 books, two stand out as absolute necessities for the collector of United States coins. They are:

The Red Book

A Guide Book of United States Coins, by R. S. Yeoman, popularly known as the Red Book. Yearly editions provide continuously updated retail values of all U. S. coins since 1616.

The Blue Book

A Handbook of United States Coins, also by Mr. Yeoman, usually referred to as the Blue Book. The standard reference book for average prices dealers pay for your coins, with a new edition each year.

These two books, along with over 350 Whitman items for the coin collector, may be found at your dealer's store.
